

When I become self-employed there was a world of information to understand, do's and don'ts, and advice to take on board. Part of the process was to understand the various options for insurances I might need. Abby has made the Insurance part for me clear and simple! She provided me with options and information for policies that I was interested in and helped me to understand what the jargon was about. She was easy to contact not only by phone but also via email and answered my questions thoroughly and promptly in easy to understand language. Her bubbly enthusiasm for her work and dealing with people, along with her sincere concern for making sure you're getting just what you are after has made her a pleasure to deal with. I have highly recommended Abby to friends and colleagues.

Natasha Wilson
Business Analyst